

Hi girly pop I would have put this on your website but I had it on my phone and decided I'll send it here. Letter tome!!

Amy I'm just gonna get right into this. You're the best girly pop ever and you know that, I know that, and I think everyone knows that. You're the best person ever and you're always so helpful and thoughtful and I really love that about you. Everything for me recently has been just stressful and you really help take that stress away when I talk about you and your day or if you got new clothes or anything. I really can't put into words how much talking to you can really help me and I know I always say how much I appreciate you but I want to put it into perspective. For example a few days ago I was really stressing out about school and you showed me that everything is okay and there's time. You helped me realize I'm just too hard on myself. You're a really good friend and you point out the obvious things I overlook all the time and you bring me from being super stressed and anxious to a state where I'm okay and I can take a deep breath. That's something that is really special to have and something not many people can do and it's something you do very well. I also just love talking to you in general and recently idk why I've just been wanting to hang out and that's why I really can't wait for you to come home and we can be giving over break!! Girly pop I just want to tell you that you make such a difference in my life every single day. You never fail to help me and make me laugh. There's a reason you're on my Lock Screen, it's calming and fun to look at and think about. I could be like rilly stressed out one night and I grab Dino and I just take some deep breaths and think of times we've had together and it helps. Amy you're the best person in the world and you deserve nothing but the best because that's what you give to me. You're so kind and you're honestly the most beautiful person ever. The way your skin just is so smooth looking and your little smile really just makes me happy. Your hair is really beautiful and it looks good no matter how you have it and honestly the biggest thing is your smile and your eyes. Honestly I just love it and Amy I love you, I've never felt so safe and happy with someone and you're really just someone who's not just my friend but you're closer than that and I feel that you're not just part of this family but you're someone who's just irreplaceable. You have such amazing qualities and a personality that's hard to find and you have such a caring heart. I knew from the moment I first started talking to you that o really want to be friends but as everything progressed I realized I don't just want you as a friend I want you as family. Someone who's always going to be around and someone who I can always trust and talk to. And that's what you are to me. You're my number one and you're someone I care so damn much about Amy I would do anything for you. I just really want to say thank you. And especially this past year I know we didn't talk too much but when we did everything felt different and even better and I never want to lose whatever it is we have. There is no label for this it's just a damn good bond between two people. You're not just my friend. Your family. You're not like most people. You're kind and supportive. You're my girly pop and I'd do anything for you. For Lucy. For Sally. I just cannot thank you enough Amy and there's not a day that goes by when I don't thank God for putting you into my life. I know that who I am today is strongly influenced by you and you're the biggest reason I've pushed through those hard days. The reason I've become this Eddie that I am today. I love you for that and I'll do anything for you. I want nothing but for you to be happy. To have those good days. So please whatever you need Amy just ask. I love you more than anything and I know you're going to do great things. Thank you for being there and for being somebody who's just the best at everything. You're the most beautiful person and I just want you to know I'll always be here and I'll always love you

